

Little Hadham Primary School - Early Years
05 February 2016

Early Years Newsletter

Great team work!!

Chinese New Year (Year of the monkey) will be an ongoing study this week. Although we are not going to make pancakes this week we will be basing some of our work around them. We will also be looking for and at circles and the number 1.

Ash children will be busy using all the initial sounds that they have now covered (all 26 of them) as well as the tricky words I no go to the. The children are all keen to write and their reading is developing at quite a pace. They will be bringing a bird spotting sheet home this evening, for them to tally and count the birds that they manage to see and identify in and around their garden/wherever they happen to be this weekend.

Thank you for your support.

The Early Years Team