Early Years News

Our Paramedic visitor on Wednesday really prompted some 'rich' questions from our little people and they really enjoyed using the heart monitor to watch their wiggly heart lines! Thank you, Casey, the Paramedic.

Next week, we are concluding our focus on 999, through a focus on the Police and will hopefully have another visitor to inspire the children. We will also be setting up a 'Magnetic Investigation Station', so do bring in any objects that you may wish to test!

Saturday's Open Morning attracted 4 new families, so we hope to hear more from them in due course.

We have been working hard on our number formation and have enclosed another number formation sheet, should anyone wish to practice further. I am very proud of the way that Ash Class children have taken to using Numicon to support their maths learning - a great resource at any age. If you would like to know more, visit www.bookdepository.com where starter packs are available at £20 each.

Mrs Nicklin is now having physio for her shoulder but with the recommendation that she does not drive for at least another week. Whilst the little people will be thrilled to see her back (me too!) she needs to be fully fit, so she mustn't rush things. Thank you for your understanding but please let us know if you have any concerns.

Have a lovely weekend!
